Dear Family and Friends,

In our last issue I shared information with you about our Congregational ministry in the Congo. I referenced the building and establishing of a health care post for the people of Vutahira. This project was also highlighted in our annual appeal letter that went out in December. We are so very grateful to all of you for joining us in thinking beyond ourselves to help those less fortunate. The request from the appeal letter has brought in $25,000 for the health post. This includes donations from our sisters and associates as well as family, friends and generous benefactors such as you. Thank you! We will keep you updated on how the project is proceeding.

Join us in praying for peace.

In response to numerous terrorists’ attacks around the world, our Congregational Prioress, Sr. Marie Thérèse, has invited our whole Congregation, our Associates, our schools and all with whom we are involved to become “Artisans of Peace” in our world today. In her letter, Sr. Marie states: “...Pope Francis has said that peace must be put into practice with acts of kindness, fraternity, dialogue and mercy. He reminds us that this must be done with compassion, kindness, lowliness, humility, patience and a spirit of forgiveness. He emphasizes that these attitudes are necessary to become artisans of peace precisely where we live out our daily lives…”

We have set aside the 17th of every month (the date of the Feast of our Seven Founders) to pray for peace and to carry out one action of peace wherever we are – no matter how small. We invite you to join us and set aside some time for prayer and action for peace on the 17th of each month.

As 2017 dawned, I was presented with a challenge. I accepted the challenge and now also invite you to participate if you so desire.

The challenge presented to me was that during 2017 anyone who wants to participate take one or two minutes each day at the 17th hour of the day (5 p.m.) to pray for peace.

The prayer is a simple thing to do; the remembering to pray it at the 17th hour is the challenge! Of course there is no obligation to participate, but we invite you to take up the challenge. It doesn’t matter if you miss the 5 o’clock hour; just pray!

Please consider these invitations and pray for peace with us: peace in our families, our nation and our world. It is a small thing to do, but as Jesus told us, “…wherever two or three of you are gathered, there I am in the midst of you.” Gather with us in prayer and make 2017 a peaceful year!

Mary, Queen of Peace, pray for us and our world.

For the past eight years the Servite Center of Compassion has offered the Boundless Compassion Program. The program was inspired by the mission of the Servite Sisters which is “to manifest God’s compassionate presence in the spirit of Mary.” The program team includes Servite Sisters Joyce Rupp, Margaret Stratman, and Val Lewandoski.

The Compassion Program has been offered over these years as a four day conference or retreat. It has been held annually in the Omaha area and around the country in various locations, at various times. The dynamics of compassion explored include: neuroscience and compassion, compassion for self, others, the marginalized, the earth, in suffering, and compassion as a way of life.

Over one thousand people have attended the program. It has been very well received and has been life changing for a number of participants. Here are the voices of just a few participants:

“I honestly believe the program made me a better person. I find myself more concerned about those who are different than me, I try to look at circumstances around an event, rather than place blame on those involved.” From Iowa

“When I registered for this program, I did not realize that it would have the impact that it did on my own growth and learning. It spiritually inspired me and offered me a learning experience that called upon me to use the wisdom within myself.” From South Dakota

“I gained new insights about what it means to be compassionate and as a result I feel that I am more aware of the deep hurts and needs of others and more responsive to them. The program transformed me to be a more compassionate presence in the world.” From Iowa

Because of the favorable response, the great need in our world for compassion, and the desire to spread the program more widely, it is now being expanded. The program will now include a training day for past participants who would like to take the Boundless Compassion Program to their constituents. During the training, the program team will guide the participants in teaching about compassion, in facilitating activities and reflection to deepen compassion, in using the resources provided for the program, and in developing registration procedures. The trainings will begin in the summer of 2018.

As past participants learn of this latest development, enthusiasm is beginning to build! We look forward to this new adventure and pray that the God of Compassion will bless our efforts.

“She was diagnosed with lung cancer. Doctor’s said it probably started developing 12 years ago. She died last year.”

“My sister was diagnosed with breast cancer. She was only 37.”

“A drunk driver hit the car my friends were in. None survived.”

“My dad died of suicide. Enough said.”

“This is my first time riding without my wife on the back of my bike. I buried her two weeks ago.”

Let’s start at the beginning. When my husband and I moved to Florida in April, we joined several Spyder riding groups. Like other riding groups, we ride together to various locations around Florida. The rides usually entail several breaks along the route, perfect for short conversations and learning more about each other. Eventually we get to our destination and share a meal before we start our ride home.

On one of these rides, I met a gentleman, Dennis, whose wife had died. He told me about their life together and how much he missed her. He was riding that day for the first time without her. It was different not feeling her hold on to him. It was different not having her talk into his ear as they went down the road. It was different coming to see his riding pals without his wife. He related that he didn’t feel that he belonged in a traditional grief support group. No widowers, cold and sterile room. I thanked him for sharing his story with me. I was touched that he chose to relate such a personal story since we had just met for the first time that day. When I asked him why he chose to share with me, his answer was simple, he shared because I asked, because I was willing to listen to his story and his memories, because he felt peaceful and open when he was on his bike.

I started thinking about what Dennis said. What was it about this setting that compelled him to feel comfortable? So, I asked him. Although this was my first time riding with him, Dennis had been riding with this group for years. They were his friends. A few other men in the group had also lost their wives. With this group, he wasn’t just a widower. That was one part of his identity now, but it wasn’t the only part of his identity; he is a father, a grandfather, a business owner, an active member of his church community, a biker, a philanthropist... but mostly, being outside meant he wasn’t “trapped in a room with chairs in a circle.” He was doing what he and his wife loved to do and he loves feeling that connection to her when he rides.

On subsequent rides, I would hear others share their stories of loss. My mind kept thinking back to my conversation with Dennis. Perhaps riding could be an activity that would bring together, in a nontraditional support group setting, those who were looking for and needing others to share their journey with.

So, on a beautiful Saturday in late November, the Servants of Mary sponsored a mourning ride for those that had suffered a loss. We met at the typical meeting spot... the parking lot of centrally located gas station. After we shared a short prayer, we rode over the Sunshine Skyway Bridge, through some beautiful country side, stopped for lunch and ended at a 500 year old oak tree in Safety Harbor. The ride ended with everyone offering a simple silent prayer.

It was just like any other ride in many respects. This time however, small talk turned into conversations and sharing of stories of loss. There were tears and hugs of support. Expressions of gratitude for time spent together. A feeling of belonging because loss was not the only thing everyone shared in common, making the sharing of stories so much easier.
Saint Peregrine, Patron Saint of Cancer and Life-Threatening Illnesses

By Linda Hess, OSM Director of St. Peregrine Ministry

The Servants of Mary are privileged to pray for individuals and families seeking the intercession of St. Peregrine. We continue to have Mass, in honor of St. Peregrine, on the third Saturday of every month in our Chapel at 11:00 AM. All are welcome. On May 20th at 9:45, we will have our special May event and Fr. Larry Gilick, SJ, will be the speaker before the liturgy. It is never too early to mark your calendar!

I would like to share with you some testimonials from people who have been part of the St. Peregrine Ministry over the years.

“Thank you so much for your prayer for my friend with breast cancer. She is doing well and we are grateful to you and glad we can turn to you for prayers in a time of illness and heartache.”

“Thank you for all your good works. I have driven a friend to your monthly St. Peregrine Mass for many years now and I appreciate your prayers. I am a cancer survivor and you have touched my life with your goodness.”

“My husband and I would like to thank you for the St. Peregrine Oil. Although we are of the Methodist faith, we believe there are no boundaries for God’s healing.”

“My brother died last month after a courageous battle with cancer. We appreciate all your prayers as I am sure they prepared him well for a peaceful death.”

“I was diagnosed with ovarian cancer. St. Peregrine was my companion through chemotherapy and surgery. Although I found myself in a ‘black space’, I felt a guiding hand on my shoulder.”

“I want to thank you and all who prayed for my dear friend. She passed away after a long struggle with cancer. Knowing that your prayers were behind her made a difference and she had a peaceful death at home.”

The “Hidden Figures” of OSMS

By Tom Marasco, Director of Development

There is a fantastic movie out in theaters right now called “Hidden Figures”. This is a well told and true story about three brilliant African-American women, Katherine G. Johnson, Dorothy Vaughan and Mary Jackson who were working at NASA when the space race was heating up. These women were top notch mathematicians, engineers and computer programmers who overcame long odds to achieve their great successes in the NASA program, including getting John Glenn into orbit. They were instrumental in helping to break all sorts of barriers within the NASA community. Their stories, however, were largely untold until this movie.

If I were an official movie reviewer, I would be giving this movie two thumbs up and recommending you see it.

You may be asking yourself, “why is the Development guy for the Servants of Mary talking about this movie?” I lead off with the movie review because I see a lot of parallels between the women in the movie and the women I work with every day. There are a lot of the Sisters who work “behind the scenes” in support of ministries that may not be as well known. All of the work that these Sisters do helps to move the Order forward.

Some of the more “out in front” Sisters are Sr. Mary Gehringer, Sr. Jackie Ryan and Sr. Kerry Larkin who are the leadership team for the Servants of Mary. Sr. Margaret Stratman and Sr. Val Lewandoski, the Director and Assistant Director of the Servite Center of Compassion. Sr. Lisa Sheridan is our Director of Associate Membership, Sr. Linda Hess is the Director of the St. Peregrine Program and Srs. Barb Kennedy and Sarah Deebey operate the Northwest Catholic Counseling Center in Portland, OR. These Sisters are out front in roles that are more publicly noticed.

Here are just a few of our “Hidden Figures”, some of the Sisters who are semi-retired, but are still doing work that is vital to our success and growth.

We have Srs. Midge Petersen, Rita Mary Morrissette, who are occasionally assisted by Srs. Ann Howorth, Gabriel Lawler, and Karen Brown to create wonderful purses, aprons, place mats, table runners, and hats for people going through chemotherapy in the quilting room. They make a lot of items that are sold in the gift shop, run by Sr. Nancy Marsh. They were instrumental in providing pieces for the craft sale that was held this past November.

We have Sr. Julianna Fitzpatrick, now in charge of the Servants of Mary Archives. She works with the Sisters and the Development & Marketing team to help collect pictures, articles, historical tidbits about the Sisters.

Sr. Iris Deprez and Sr. Terese Lux are greeters at Immanuel Hospital and their work helps provide some comfort and compassion for people entering into a situation that may be frightening to them.

Sr. Justina Tsoku goes to Skyline Retirement Community and meets with the retirees in residence there. Sr. Justina makes sure that the residents have someone to talk to and share experiences with.

Sometimes, these people have no family left, so Sr. Justina brings compassion, friendship and love to them.

Sr. Peter Caito spends her time tutoring young students at St. Clare of Montifalco School in Michigan. She is helping elementary students get a better grasp on their studies and helping them gain a foundation for success.

Sr. Doris Durant volunteers to be a friendly visitor to the sick and infirmed in the Massena, NY area.

Sr. Doris is providing comfort, friendship, some kind words and nice smile to help people on their road to recovery.

As with Katherine, Dorothy and Mary from NASA, our “Hidden Figure” Sisters are doing their part to make sure we never fall short of our goals and aspirations. The work that all the Sisters do, either out in front in very public capacities, or behind the scenes where a specific group of people are aware of the impact being made, helps to further the mission of the Order – to be a compassionate presence in the spirit of Mary. Based on correspondence from many friends and benefactors, I know the great impact that has been made. I know that so many people out there have been affected in a positive way not only by the Sisters in the public eye, but also by our “Hidden Figures” Sisters as well.

On behalf of all of the Sisters, I wish to extend my sincere thanks to all of you for your continued support. I appreciate all that you do to help us move forward and be able to continue making a positive impact on the lives of the people we reach.
As part of the silent auction for the 2016 Partnership Event, the Mary Our Queen Men's Club donated 30 hours of unskilled labor to the winning bidder. The Men’s Club specializes in small projects and the guys were thrilled to be able to help out the Sisters with our fundraiser.

The winning bidder was Jan Milone, who is a long time friend of the Sisters. Jan had a few projects for the Men’s Club to complete. The biggest project was demolition of her kitchen! The Men’s Club removed all of the appliances, cabinets, counters and the flooring so that Jan could have her contractor start right away on her kitchen remodel. The guys also did some landscape work in front of the house, blew out the gutters and raked the front and back yard for Jan.
